As a prospective buyer, you must register and obtain a buyer number to use when bidding. Each buyer will receive an auction book with the animals in order of sale, their weights, exhibitor name & club/chapter. As each animal enters the auction ring, the auctioneer will ask for bids in cents/dollars per pound. If you wish to bid, you raise your auction number so the ring crew can acknowledge your bid. The bidding will continue until a high bid is reached. If you are the high bidder, please keep your buyer number visible to aid the auction staff in properly identifying you and where you are seated. This assists the staff getting your paperwork to you.

AFTER THE SALE OF THE ANIMAL

Completely fill out the information on the sales slip. Mark whether the animal will be a self-haul, or where the animal is to be sent for processing or if you are selling it to the packer. All animals will be sent to State Plants for processing and the fee will be collected by the fair. The State Plants will send the animal to the processor of your choice. The processors will charge a fee, listed in the auction book, per pound for the cut/wrap of your animal. Packer price will be deducted from your total amount due and you will pay the difference.

OR

You may donate the animal to one of the 3 funds below for resale. When this is done, you pay the total price of the animal and it is resold at the end of the auction & those proceeds of that sale will go to one of the following funds as designated by you:
